Cold War Centers On Pacts

Scandinavian Tension Mounts

LONDON —(INS)— Growing anxiety is being manifested in Scandinavia today over Russia's offer of a non-aggression pact to Norway.

Reports from Norway, Sweden and Denmark all show marked tension over the latest Soviet move, which followed the Norwegian government's assertion that it is considering a tie with the North Atlantic military alliance.

The London Daily Telegraph quotes Swedish diplomatic circles as saying that the Russian offer to Norway is part of a carefully planned program to "seize the initiative in the north."

Should Norway refuse, the newspaper reported, the Kremlin may then pursue any of these three policies:

1. Invoke paragraph two of the Soviet-Finnish treaty calling for consultations if either regards herself as threatened.

2. Increase the number of Soviet troops along the short Russo-Norwegian frontier.

3. Widen the diplomatic offensive in Scandinavia by offering a similar non-aggression pact to Sweden — the Nordic country least favorably disposed to the North Atlantic pact.

START PARLEY

Meanwhile Norway starts important talks with the United States today in Washington to determine whether she will defy Russia and join the western powers in a strong non-communist defense alliance.

Diplomatic authorities expected Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange, Norwegian Ambassador Wilhelm Munthe De Morgenstierne, and other Norwegian officials to meet sometime today with Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Norway's participation in the historic pact is by no means certain. But Norwegian sources said Soviet pressure to reject the proposed alliance would determine or even influence Norway's final decision. Russia offered Norway a non-aggression treaty presumably as an inducement to stay out of the western power alliance.

"I have come to the United States to find out what security there will be for Norway if we enter the North Atlantic pact," Lange said on his arrival yesterday. "I also wish to find out what obligations Norway will be committed to in this pact."

Cold Plunge Due Tonight

A June-like sky, blue and sunny, helped to take the edge off February temperatures in Ohio today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said a reading of 25 degrees would likely be the high for the state today with a drop to as low as 5 degrees expected tonight.

Forecaster C. G. Andrus said the clear skies would be largely responsible for the plunge tonight. "The quiet clear air will act as a sort of covering," Andrus explained, "which intensifies the cold."

The cold weather, however, is moving eastward and will give way to influx or warmer air from the southwest tomorrow along with an upswing in the mercury.

Today's sun hiked the mercury five degrees in a two hour period from 8:30 to 10:30 o'clock this morning in Mansfield. Rainfall during the 24 hours before 7:30 a. m. was .08 inches.

Train Kills 6; Baby Escapes

TULSA — (AP) — Six persons were killed in a train crossing accident yesterday but a 10-day old baby miraculously escaped death.

Three other survivors remained in a critical condition early today. Physicians said they were "hanging to a thread of life."

The baby, Jimmie Eugene Litterell, suffered a possible head injury which attendants described as serious. He is the son of Mrs. Wanda Litterell, 14, one of the victims.

Millions Protest Red Trial

(By Associated Press)

Protests against the treason trial of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty reached a new crescendo as a people's court in communist-dominated Hungary prepared to pass sentence.

The leader of Hungarian Roman Catholics—termed by the prosecution "one of the last remnants of reaction" in the Soviet satellite—prayed alone today in his jail cell, awaiting the court's verdict tomorrow.

But millions of Catholics—and a number of Protestants—raised their voice in the world outside the iron curtain.

On the other side of the iron curtain it was a different story. The Cardinal's trial was declared a triumph over a "monarchist-Catholic" plot and "reactionary propagandists" by Pravda, official Russian communist newspaper.

In Budapest, itself, the communist newspaper, Szabad Nep said the trial of the cardinal—"a wretched worm, a frightened scoundrel" was a "defeat for the west."

DAY OF PRAYER

Catholics in the United States observed a nationwide day of "prayer and protest" yesterday along with others of the faith in other countries.

Francis Cardinal Spellman in New York denounced, from the pulpit of St. Patrick's cathedral, the "mock trial" and the "atheistic communism" he said was responsible. Thousands jammed the cathedral to hear his entreaty for prayers for the "persecuted, tortured, victimized" primate.

He said the "torturing and druggings" of Cardinal Mindszenty have "put him beyond the reach of human help."

Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, professor of philosophy at the Catholic University of America, said in a "Catholic hour" radio broadcast "a new crime has arisen in the world—the crime of believing in God."

Cardinal Mindszenty, on a visit to the United States two years ago, Sheen said, told him "I am going back to be crucified."

The Rev. Daniel A. Poling, president of the World Christian Endeavor Union, said in Boston the trial is a "rape of justice." He added: "Let Americans make no mistake. This anti-God totalitarianism does not discriminate between Catholics and Protestants."

Lying Flying Now Being Considered

DAYTON — (INS) — Army air force officials were considering today a "flying bed" for superfast plane pilots.

Instead of the conventional cockpit for aviators, air force engineers favored a bed because they claim it allows pilots to withstand about three times as much strain from gravity before blacking out.

Two Caught By Blockade

Deputy, Marshal Trap Suspects

Blocking the exits at a Lexington home last night, Deputy Sheriff Foster Palmer and Lexington Marshal Frank Trout foiled an attempted escape of two Kentucky auto theft suspects at the home of the one fugitive's sister.

Captured at the home of Mrs. Ruth Griffith, were Charles J. Olds, 24, brother of Mrs. Griffith and identified by sheriff's deputies as a parole violator from the Mansfield reformatory; also Edward Elliott, 18, of Lipan, Ky., wanted by naval authorities for being absent without leave.

Both youths escaped through the roof of the Pike county jail Saturday night. They were being held for the theft of a car in Kentucky.

The Pike county jail at present consists of a small garage, according to a Portsmouth newsman.

Deputy Palmer said he received a "tip" that the youths were at the Griffith home about 5 p. m. Sunday. He said he stationed Marshal Trout at the front door of the home and went around to the back door where he gained entrance. Seeing capture was imminent, the youths made a break for the front door but surrendered peacefully when they saw the Marshal.

Held in county jail today, both Olds and Elliott waived extradition. They are being held for Louise, Ky. police.

Olds was received at the reformatory on Aug. 17, 1945, after conviction of conveying articles into the Richland county jail for escape. He was given a one-year to age sentence and paroled on March 12, 1947. Olds was declared a parole violator last Oct. 11.

'Get Tough,' Says Russian

Claims U. S. Has Won 50% of the Cold War

RICHMOND, Va.—(INS)—One of the two Soviet flyers who fled to America said today he doesn't believe that Russia has the atom bomb.

The Russian aviator, 26-year-old Peter Pirogov, also declared that America has won 50 per cent of the cold war and urged President Truman to continue his "get tough" policy with the Soviet.

In addition, Pirogov applauded Mr. Truman's refusal to meet with Soviet Premier Stalin in eastern Europe and said the action has added to America's prestige in the eyes of most Russian citizens.

Pirogov and his partner, Anatol Barsov, 31, broke through the iron curtain last October into Austria.

The following words are Pirogov's own, as spoken through an interpreter - intelligence officer for the United States Air Force:

"Because I was not on a highly technical side of things in Russia," he said, "I wouldn't know for sure whether or not Russia has the atom bomb.

'CONTINUE MARSHALL PLAN'

"But from what I read in the Soviet press and have picked up elsewhere, I don't believe she has it.

"America should continue the Marshall plan and maintain a firm position in all dealings with Russia.

"Most of the Russian people, you know, are not communist of their own free will. They have no other choice when one out of every four people is pointing a gun at your back.

"Therefore, we are sympathetic to America and we believe Mr. Truman was right in referring Stalin's offer to the United Nations and normal diplomatic channels."

Police Probe Torch Killing

WALTHAM, MASS. — (UP) — Mrs. Catherine Rix, 40, whose burned body was found on a little-travelled highway yesterday, died of carbon monoxide poisoning, an autopsy disclosed today, and District Attorney George E. Thompson said evidence indicated she had been slain.

"My information leads me to believe we have a murder on our hands," Thompson said.

Police said the body apparently had been doused with cleaning fluid and set afire. An empty gallon can was found near the body, along with some tracks made by either one or two men.

1 Killed In Union Fight

HARLAN, KY. — (INS) — Two men were hospitalized today and a third was dead in the wake of a weekend gun battle between labor demonstrators and police from the mining town of Lynch, near Harlan.

Harlan Police Chief John Greenlee identified the dead man as John Yelonski, a 40-year-old member of the Lynch police department.

The injury victims were Harry Carroll, 35, also a police officer, and Lawrence Pennington, of Clover Fork, an organizer for the United Construction Workers.

The Harlan officer said Pennington fired at the two officers as they approached a group of union men attempting to organize workers of the Union Supply company, the U. S. Coal and Coke company's retail outlet.

Pennington himself was wounded when Carroll returned the fire after falling to the ground. Yelonski was shot through the head and killed instantly.

'Sally' Posed As Red Cross Field Worker

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A crippled ex-G.I. testified today in the treason trial of Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars that she was wearing "a little Red Cross pin" when she induced him to make a prisoner of war recording.

The testimony was given by 30-year-old John T. Lynskey of Pittsburgh, who was crippled in the Normandy invasion and taken prisoner by the Germans.

A previous witness testified that the Maine-born Miss Gillars posed as an international Red Cross worker when she asked him to make a recording in a Paris hospital.

High Winds Blast West

Rescue Workers Stalled By Storm

(By Associated Press)

Slashing storms had opened up a new front today against the armies of rescuers in the western blizzard areas while hammering again at some sections of the high plains.

High winds in Wyoming piled deep snow drifts back onto highways and rail lines, bringing traffic to another halt. A Burlington lines bus with 38 passengers was stalled 42 miles west of Casper, Wyo., and a convoy of 14 truck loads of hay for snowbound ranches was marooned south of the city.

The newest storm swept in from the Pacific ocean yesterday and dumped deep snow on sections of Washington, Oregon and northern California.

Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska yesterday declared four more of the state's counties to be within the emergency area of last month's blizzard and asked the Fifth army to include them in their program of rescue operations.

Food Package Kills Woman

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. — (AP) — An Indian woman was reported killed yesterday by a food package dropped from an airlift plane.

Supt. James M. Stewart of the Navajo reservation said the accident occurred when a package, tossed from a plane carrying supplies to snowbound Indians, fell directly into the yard of a Navajo's hogan and hit the woman. Normally packages fall about 300 yards distant.

Robins Come North; Geese Travel South

With B. F. Cornell, 657 Harter avenue, and Walter Schnell, 114 Park avenue west, each reporting the appearance of robins in their backyards today, other birdlovers were discussing the large flock of geese which flew southwestward over Mansfield Sunday.

Geese usually start their southern migration in October and November, but it is thought that the late migration is due to the unusually mild climate conditions here in the north.

Reshuffling Sighted For 65 Agencies

Commission Urges Tighter Controls

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Hoover commission called today for a vast government reshuffling which would squeeze 65 agencies into a tight group one-third that size, all under firm control of the president.

Reporting to Congress on its 16-month search for ways to streamline the government, the group headed by former President Herbert Hoover urged giving the President broad new powers over his official family —powers it said are needed in the present "critical state of world affairs."

It said that under the present set-up, "authority is diffused, lines of authority are confused, staff services are insufficient."

To remedy that, the commission proposed a government pyramid based on the 2,000,000 federal employes and building up to a score of top-level agencies directly under the President—instead of the 65 which now report to him "if they report to anyone."

At the head of this chain of command, the President would be fortified with new staff officials, a powerful "managerial arm" in an expanded budget office, much wider powers to reorganize government offices, and authority to name many officials without the Senate's approval.

Omitted from the list of offices tabbed for streamlining were nine "regulatory" agencies, including three—the interstate Commerce commission, Federal Reserve board and Securities and Exchange commission—which many congressmen have proposed putting out of the President's reorganization reach.

The report was the first chapter of a massive blueprint for federal reform—which Hoover has said could save the taxpayers "billions"—to be handed Congress in 15 installments before March 31.

Youth Groups Study Merger

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Proposed organizational structure of the youth organizations of the Congregational Christian and Evangelical and Reformed churches was referred to a joint committee today for further study.

The plan for a merger of the two youth fellowships was outlined yesterday in Cleveland in advance of formal approval of the merger of the two denominations.

Some 60 members of the executive groups of the two bodies came from all parts of the country to attend the meeting.

3 Men, 2 Women Quizzed

Officers Vague On Details

Police today were holding five persons for investigation in connection with the fatal shooting Saturday night of Clayton Luckie, 37, of 867 Bowman street, an outstanding athlete at Senior high school during the early 30's.

One woman was held at the county jail and three men and a woman were held at the city jail. They were picked up at 4 a. m. yesterday, less than six hours after the North Main street shooting. A fifth man, held in city jail, was arrested shortly before midnight Saturday.

Police declined to disclose the exact details of the shooting that occurred in front of 224½ North Main street. Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab said the investigation was continuing and that "we are not completely satisfied as yet" as to exactly what happened.

However, it is believed that Luckie either walked or ran down the stairs from the second floor of the building and was shot just as he left the building. When police arrived on the scene, shortly after 10:30 p. m., Luckie was lying in a pool of blood, shot through the neck. There were three other wounds in his legs.

WAS MAJOR ATHLETE

Luckie was born in Pensacola, Fla., on Sept. 10, 1911, and moved to Mansfield six years later. He attended Mansfield Senior high school where he was a member of the football, basketball and track squads.

Termed an outstanding athlete, he held the 220 yard dash record at the school until last year.

He was a member of the Mitchell Chapel Methodist church and Masonic lodge, Pride of Ohio, No., 80.

In addition to his wife Floydine, he is survived by two sons, Richard and Stephen; two daughters, Sandra and Marsha; two brothers, Alexander and Harold; one sister, Mrs. Bernice Ferguson, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Luckie, all of Mansfield.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the Geiger funeral home with Rev. F. D. Barnes officiating. Burial will be at Mansfield cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home until the time of services.

Divorce Law Under Fire

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche disclosed today that he may ask the Ohio legislature to pass legislation to extend the waiting period required before divorces may be granted.

The governor said he would discuss the advisability of such a recommendation with legislative leaders, possibly today. He said he became concerned over the problem following recent disclosures of divorce irregularities in Columbus and Cleveland.

"For some time I have been of the belief that the time in which a divorce action may be heard, after suit is filed—now six weeks — is entirely too short," he said. "It doesn't afford opportunity for reconciliation, for one thing.

"Consequently I am going to discuss with legislative leaders the thought of extending the waiting period from six weeks to six months."

Red Conspiracy In the U.S.A.

Rankin Outsmarts Dems But Stripling Drafted

By ROBERT E. STRIPLING
(Edited by Bob Considine)

Several days after I was placed peremptorily in 1-A in the draft, though deferred by Congress as chief investigator of the House un-American activities committee, I received a puzzling call from Selective Service headquarters in Washington.

I was told I was wanted there in a certain office, and that I was to use the name "Wright" in identifying myself.

I did as directed and finally found myself facing two elderly Army colonels. They informed me quickly that I was the victim of what they called an unprecedented action, and that the move was plainly political. They urged me to take a job with the Glenn Martin company, near Baltimore, after which they felt that Gen. Lewis B. Hershey could defer me as an essential worker.

I thanked them for their interest but turned them down, went back to the House Office building and began winding up my duties with the committee.

The days dragged on through December, 1944, without a call to me to report for duty. The office of a Washington columnist contacted my draft board several times, asking why I

The Guide Speaks Up

U. S. Autos Just Like Women; All Look Alike

NEW YORK—(UP)—American automobiles are like American women, Jacques DuBois said today. They all look alike.

"But in Europe, it is different," he said. "Each man has his own taste in body lines. That is why there are so many custom built automobiles."

DuBois, a guide, was standing behind a pillar beside the Rolls Royce convertible at the First International Automobile show.

So was everybody else. They were looking at a blond in a white sweater who was trying to look at home in the Rolls Royce.

This Rolls Royce costs only $22,000. It's a long, black job with swooping lines, red leather upholstery and solid walnut fittings.

The walnut dashboard, with its sunken walnut knobs and dials, looks like the front of a large console radio.

"What kind of leather is this?" a spectator asked the suave, tall British demonstrator.

"Genuine leather," the Englishman said.

"What do you get for your $22,000?" the spectator asked.

"May I say something?" said Jack DuBois, who wore a floppy black hat, and a grey overcoat.

"You see the young lady. You see the car? In my country we say 'Ca Suffit.' The car is enough."

Dave Beck a Rising Union Power; Has Presidential Aspirations

CHICAGO—Dave Beck, of Seattle, the regent of the teamsters' union of a million subjects, seriously aspires to be president of the United States.

In the political and moral atmosphere which produced President Truman this is a reasonable ambition in a union boss. Who else in the country will have more power, money and organization four years hence than Dave Beck? Is Beck morally, intellectually or socially inferior to Truman?

Beck has studied his profession as a career soldier studies the science of war. It is a profession, surely. True, he is an emotional fellow, but the moves that he makes are calculated steps, whether to goose-grease and captivate with flattery and guile the ageing, bumbling Dan Tobin, his president, or to capture jurisdiction over the food of the people of the United States.

He learns by his defeats and his victories. By absurd irony, he suffered one of his few lickings at the clumsy hands of the late Heywood Broun.

Brown decided that to advertise his newspaper guild, he needed a noisy strike with a few nose-bleeds, preferably among the humble and seedy orders of journalism, the gawky cubs and morose marginal hands who tagged at his heels in a little cult.

For this purpose he planned to strike a newspaper against Dave Beck's cold professional counsel.

But when the prospect appeared uncertain, Broun appealed to Beck for muscle and Beck turned out his goons to form their living wall which the union attorneys soberly recognized as a very unhygienic working condition. So the plant was tied up and the strike went on.

At that time the guild was in the A.F.L. with the teamsters. Later, Broun took it into the CIO, as a communist front. And it later came to pass that Broun beat Beck by a decision of the then pro-communistic labor board in a squabble over a paltry mess of fish.

Beck was furious. He had given Broun freely of his ability, prestige and power and had been humiliated by a crazy novice's roundhouse swing. He was embarrassed in the eyes of his goons. Harry Bridges sneered at him. And even old Tobin expressed misgivings.

"God deliver me from those damned amateurs," Beck said. He resented the bleeding hearts and fakers who were flocking to the picket-lines, the professors and women.

BECK regulated commerce by restricting competition between business firms. Employers who yielded to his demands were eligible for the benefits of restrictions. Upstart rivals couldn't open up if Beck shook his head. Who then would deliver stuff to and from their doors? Would union men dare to be seen patronizing stores which Beck declared unfair? All such powers were legally his. All such actions were lawful measures of unionism.

Beck is a rising power. He is bold, imaginative, a schemer, physically strong, abstemious and energetic. He can compromise or fight head-to-head, and his sly usurpation of the kingdom of Dan Tobin has been a great feat of court intrigue and politics.

We had Wallace only one heart-beat away from the presidency for four years. We got Truman by a political fluke the first time and by due process this time.

Beck is in no important way inferior to either of them. And the people now are no longer accustomed to think of the presidency as an office which requires moral greatness, dignity and devotion to the constitution. You take what you get for president and fear has taken the place of respect.

Fight Brews Over GOP Leadership

Johnson Ouster Faces Battle

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Last ditch battle lines were being drawn by opposing factions today in the fight over the leadership of the Republican party in Ohio.

The party's state central and executive committee meets Wednesday in what was originally scheduled as a get-together to go over the faults committed in the last campaign.

Actually, however, it has developed into the climax of a fight to oust state chairman Fred H. Johnson, Zanesville insurance man, and to replace him with Ray Bliss, Akron lawyer and Summit county chairman.

The Bliss faction now claims 22 sure votes on the 44-member committee. That probably would be enough to unseat Johnson, since perfect attendance is not usually expected.

Bliss backers have been citing the fact that, under Johnson, Ohio Republicanism has slipped from a place where it formerly held all elective offices but one, a top-heavy majority in the legislature, and all but four of the place where it now has none of these things and holds only one elective office in the statehouse.

The answer, they claim, is simple—get a new chairman.

Johnsonites, on the other hand, retort that Bliss, as Akron party boss, hasn't done too well in his own backyard, which remains a Democratic stronghold. They also point out that the national committee, despite corresponding Republican defeats on the nationwide scale, retained its chairman, Hugh Scott, by a 54-50 vote in the recent meeting at Omaha.

VOTING ON CHURCH MERGER—Mrs. Lester E. Olson of DeWitt, Ia., is shown casting her ballot as the General Council of Congregational Christian Churches voted 757 to 152, at Cleveland, to proceed with a merger with the Evangelical and Reformed church, creating the United Church of Christ. About 2,000,000 members are involved, including three congregations in Mansfield. All three local churches—First Congregational, St. John's Evangelical and Reformed and Mayflower Congregational—had previously voted for the merger. Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church, attended the Cleveland sessions.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO

Five Mansfield men are celebrating their birthdays today. Among them is Charles O. Cairns, who has reached his four score years but is active and healthy and gets downtown every day to see how things are coming along. Cairns, is a member of the firm of the Richland Electric company. He retired about five years ago.

Earlier he was employed at the City Mills and has had only two jobs in his life. This evening his daughter, Miss Florence Cairns is entertaining members of the family and a few friends to help celebrate his birthday.

The News-Journal also extends best wishes to John A. Graf, Tom Ford, Frank Bunsey and Robert B. Schoenman.

N-YOT N-YOW, SAYS SOW

This is the story of the big pig who wouldn't go to market. Merl R. Perkeybile, foreman, in the machine shop at the Ideal Electric company, spent all day Sunday trying to entice a 200 pound sow into a trailer so that he could take the pig to market. But Mrs. Sow thought differently. She battled valiantly and by bedtime last night, she was still in the pen and Perkeybile was sore and stiff from the struggle. Several times during the day, Perkeybile was in the pen and the sow outside. Now Perkeybile, who owns 13 acres of land at Ontario, has decided he's definitely an amateur farmer and knows nothing whatever about the thinking of a Mama Pig. Next Sunday he'll get help.

NEW ARRIVAL

The eighth member of the R. H. McClain family arrived at General hospital Sunday. The baby is a husky boy, weighing nine pounds and five ounces. The McClains have named their yougest Douglas Allen. He's the fourth boy in the family and has twin sisters. The McClains are now nicely located at Ontario where they bought a new home and are keeping their fingers crossed for good luck. They are the family whose home burned to the ground on the Cairns road just before the Christmas holidays.

Husband, Son In Hospital

Mrs. Didusko Dies Early Monday

Mrs. Minnie Didusko, 27, wife of M/Sgt Andrew Didusko of Selfridge Field, Mich., died at General hospital at 1:40 a. m. today as the result of injuries received in a traffic accident five miles east of Greenwich Saturday.

The Diduskos and their two-year-old son, Andrew jr., were injured when their car collided with a truck at the intersection of U. S. Routes 250 and 224, near Greenwich. They were all removed to General hospital.

Sgt. Didusky was reported today as in fair condition at the hospital and his son was in good condition, hospital officials said. Sgt. Didusko suffered multiple cuts and bruises and Andrew jr., a fractured leg. Mrs. Didusko sustained a fractured leg, skull fracture and multiple lacerations.

The body of Mrs. Didusko is at the Wolford funeral home. Arrangements are awaiting the arrival of her father from Baltimore, where the body will later be removed for burial.

Stalin Has Lied So Often People Unable to Recognize the Truth

NO WONDER Washington is wary of Stalin's peace-pipe puffing. In the past, such words served as smoke screens for another Act of Aggression. . . . His zig-zagging record can only make you skeptical. . . . Stalin is suffering the fate of all merchants of mendacity. If you continually lie, people are not apt to believe you even when you're telling the truth.

The expression of peace spouted by Communist leaders is just another zig in their zagging propaganda line. Such spurious blah-blah will only fool a fool.

The current edition of Foreign Affairs magazine proves Stalin's peace promises are false with his own words. For example; Stalin has bluntly confessed that Russia aims to "raise revolts against capitalists, and in the event of necessity come out even with armed force against their governments."

Nazi pianist Walter Gieseking gave no concert as scheduled at Carnegie Hall because of American protest. He left by plane for Europe 48 hours after he arrived. . .He refused to avail himself of an offered public hearing to back up his statements of innocence with proof. Just how he managed to get an American visa is another of those State Dept. mysteries the Congress should probe. . .Who in our Gov't arranged it?

To forgive and forget is noble. To this rule the world must return some day. . .But it is typical nazi bad taste to believe the American public would permit a nazi musician at Carnegie Hall at the same time a ship bearing 5,000 war dead was lying in the harbor.

The dead American boys who died to the ear-splitting explosions of nazi shells have earned at least the silence of a nazi piano player—while they are being carried home.

An outfit which calls itself the Civil Rights Congress made an all-around nuisance of itself in Washington during Inaugural Week. They button-holed Government officials and made various protests including one against the trial of Communist party leaders.

The Civil Rights Congress has been named as a subversive organization by the Justice Dep't. But what good is listing them as subversive—if nothing is done to stop their subversive activities?

The Post Office Dep't is circulating free (without postage) propaganda against the United States. The same as Hitler did at the expense of U.S. taxpayers.

This propaganda is mailed from the Argentine Embassy in Washington. It is a book titled "Peron Expounds His Doctrine." It urges all workers to join the Peron Revolution. And it bears the U. S. stamp—which reads: "Diplomatic Mail Free."

800 Attend Service Opening Scout Week

More than 800 Boy and Girl Scouts and their parents inaugurated National Boy Scout week at special 'Scout Services' held last night at the First Presbyterian church.

Rev. David N. Roller told the Scouts that they should have the courage to stand up for the things that are right, regardless of the circumstances. He gave the account of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego who were thrown into the "Fiery Furnace" by the king of Babylon, Nebuchadnezzar, but because they believed in and stood up for what was right they came out of the furnace unscathed.

He pointed out that it was through these three Hebrew boy's fine home training, intense religious beliefs, and their determination to carry out their convictions that they were able to give hope to the discouraged Hebrew nation.

Rev. Roller said that Boy Scouts receive this same general training if they will but live up to the Scout Law and Oath.

In regards to the 'home training' he said, "Some of the greatest lessons of life are learned 'right-side-up' on your mother's knee, and also some of the greatest lessons are learned 'upside-down' on your father's knee."

As a part of the services Mrs. Sam Theaker, Girl Scout Leader and member of the Girl Scout Council, and G. C. Hillier, commissioner of Mansfield Boy Scouts, gave the annual rededication of the Scout Law and Oath to their respective groups.

W. C. Mead, president of the Johnny Appleseed Scout area, arranged the Scout's part of the program and presented the adult leaders of the two Scouting groups attending the service.

The annual Scouts-Parents dinner of troop 5 will be held at 6:30 p. m. today at the John Todd Park pavilion as part of the week's observance of National Boy Scout Week.

Glenn Pore, scoutmaster of troop 5, has arranged for a demonstration of Scouting activities for the parents, along with a movie of local Scouting to be shown by Floyd Dent.

Commissioners Report to Court

Three commissioners, appointed by Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch to partition a 75-acre tract in Mifflin township, have told the court the property cannot be partitioned without injuring its value.

Partition was ordered after Jesse A. Sleek, brought the partition action against Courtney T. Hout and others. The commissioners estimated value of the property at $4,500. Properties which cannot be partitioned in such actions are sold at public auction and the proceeds divided among the parties involved according to their interests.

Fox Hunters End Up With Bag of Nine

The Richland County Fox Hunters bagged nine foxes in an all-day hunt Saturday in the Newville area south of Lexington. The 245 hunters participating shot seven red and two gray foxes.

There were hunters from all over central Ohio, Harold Snyder, president of the organization, said. The men closed in on the foxes over an area covering about four square miles, he added.

Such hunts are held periodically to keep the fox population in Richland county thinned out Snyder explained. He pointed out that foxes keep other game low, and raid chicken houses, especially in winter.

Saturday's bag was one of the largest of the year.

Wants Lake License Hike

Higher fishing license costs may be on tap for Lake Erie commercial fishermen if an introduced bill passes the state legislature.

The measure, presented by Rep. Lowell Fess (R-Greene) would raise trot-line licenses (rowboat) from two to six dollars; power boats with gill nets (more than five tons gross) would be upped to $90 instead of the present $30; and raises are listed for seines and pound nets.

Non-resident fees would also be upped in proportion.

Kentucky, St. Louis Must Meet Again For Decision

NEW YORK—(UP)—The national championship feud between the basketball teams of Kentucky and St. Louis today had reached the point where only another meeting between the two in a post-season tournament could come close to a settlement.

The two strongest claimants to the title clashed in the Sugar Bowl tourney in Christmas week and St. Louis shaded the Wildcats by one basket, 42-40.

But followers of the 'Cats cried "fluke" at that time and have been beating the drums louder since then because Kentucky immediately got back in winning stride and began swamping various rivals. St. Louis, meanwhile, was upset by the Oklahoma Aggies and had surprising trouble with other teams before winning.

Kentucky ran its record to 17-1 on Saturday by routing Bradley, 62-52. The victory was especially impressive since Bradley has won 19 of its 23 games.

GOES INTO OVERTIME

St. Louis, however, had to go into overtime to beat an undistinguished Long Island U. team, 43-37, to make its record 15-1.

Whether tournament-time next month will give Kentucky another crack at St. Louis was still hidden in the future.

Hamline, the nation's only major unbeaten team, with a 15-0 record, faces three tests this week, against St. Thomas tonight, Concordia on Thursday, and Valparaiso on Saturday. Kentucky has a date with Tennessee on Tuesday and Xavier on Saturday and St. Louis plays Notre Dame Saturday.

'Ez' Charles Goes Against John Haynes

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Ezzard Charles, professor of the fistic arts, goes to work tonight on a favorite thesis: That a good little man can lick a good big man.

Charles, at 180 a skimpy fellow in the ranks of the heavy weights, takes on 210-pound Johnny Haynes in a 10-round fight at the arena Haynes stands six foot four.

KEY FIGHT

This is a key fight for Charles, the 27-year-old Cincinnati negro who ranks at the moment as the chief applicant for the job of swapping punches with Joe Louis for the heavyweight title next June.

A loss to Haynes—who is not considered a title possibility—would jar Charles out of his leading position in the jockeying for the championship match and perhaps sidetrack him permanently.

At the same time, a victory over Haynes won't mean too much. The New York bruiser who grew up in Texas and got his ring training on the west coast has all to gain and little to lose and is expected to carry the fight to Charles all the way.

Lloyd Breaks Tucson Mark

TUCSON, ARIZ., — (UP) — Lean Lloyd Mangrum, golfdom's thin man, today collected about everything of value connected with the four-day Tucson open which one man could cart away.

The lanky, free-swinging Niles, Ill., professional shot a blazing five-under-par 65 yesterday for a 72-hole total of 263 which was good for the Tucson title.

In order, Mangrum had for his efforts a new course record on the short, flat El Rio Country Club layout, $2000 first place money, his second gold cup of the winter tourney trail, and a 1949 sedan.

His card was five strokes better than the total of runnerup Al Smith who pocketed $1400 second place money.

TAMPA, Fla., — (AP) — Deb Snyder of Kent, O., roared to an eight length victory yesterday in a 10-lap feature at the Florida State fair auto races.

Race Horse Ball Wrecks Old Axioms

By FRITZ HOWELL
(Ohio AP Sports Editor)

COLUMBUS—The new "race horse" style of basketball is wrecking a couple of old sports axioms.

For years point-minded mentors have been saying "the best defense is a good offense," while the defensive coaches have countered with "if they can't score on you, they can't beat you."

But it looks as if both might be tossed aside now for something along the line of "you gotta have balance."

TOPS IN OFFENSE

Marietta's pioneers, the state's top offensive team—and perhaps the nation's—with 77 points per game, have been beaten five times in 14 starts. They dropped a pair of one-pointers last week, despite a scoring spree of 151 points. The two foes got 153.

And Mount Union, boasting the best defensive mark of 44.3 points, has been beaten five times in 13 games, losing one to a foe which scored only 40. Mount has held one opponent in the 20's and six in the 30's, defeating all of 'em, but once the opposition got loose the Mounts couldn't stand the scoring pace. Their best effort is 61 points, and twice they've reached 55.

But the "balanced" teams are at the top. Muskingum, pacing the all-game sector with 13 wins and three losses, has an offensive mark of 67, or 10 under Marietta, and a defensive record of 56.5, a dozen more than Mt. Union.

Akron, in second place with 12-3, has 64.7 on offensive and 53.8 on defense. Third place Wilberforce (14-4) is scoring at a 65.7 clip, and holding the opposition to 50.8.

Just to prove that points alone don't pay off, Marietta has scored 1078 in 14 games, and Muskingum has the same figure for 16. And to round out the "screwey" angles, Ashland's Eagles have played 13 games. They've scored 722 points and the foe has scored 722. Not a point difference, yet Ashland has won four and dropped nine.

MUSKIES IN FRONT

Muskingum breezed out front by a fraction last week with wins over Marietta and Capital, while Wooster was upsetting Akron—last week's leader—in an overtime. Marietta, with a chance to take over the Ohio conference lead, dropped single-pointers to Muskingum and Wittenberg, 80-81 and 72-71.

Wittenberg, atop the sprawling loop with four straight, has a tough chore this week as the Lutherans hit the road for three games.

Last week Ohio teams broke even in two dozen games with out-of-staters, giving the Bucks 105 wins and 96 losses in interstate play.

Rumor Fekete To Join Bucks

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Rumors that Gene Fekete would succeed Carroll C. Widdoes as Buckeye backfield coach have brought a denial from the star fullback of Ohio State University's 1942 football champions.

Fekete, now coaching at Dekalb, Ill. Normal, said:

"It's news to me. I've yet to be approached by anybody on the subject."

Ohio State athletic director Dick Larkins declined to comment.

Reports had it Fekete and Chuck Thackara would officially join the Bucks staff Feb. 14 when the Ohio State university board of trustees meet to approve contracts.

Lou Boudreau Gives Credit To Assistants

NEW YORK — (UP) — The Cleveland Indians' coaching "brain trust," Muddy Ruel and Bill McKechnie, was named today by manager Lou Boudreau as the factor that won the Indians the American league pennant and world championship in 1948.

"I won't say where we will finish in 1949," said Boudreau in accepting the N. Y. baseball writers' player - of - the - year award last night. "I will say that without McKechnie and Ruel we would not have won the pennant and the world championship in 1948."

SHARES HONORS

By asking the two coaches to take a bow at the writers' dinner, the young tribe skipper thus modestly shared the honor he received for managing, batting and shortstopping his team to triumph.

Speaking of the several awards he has received recently, Boudreau said, "I cannot fairly receive them alone — I must receive them on behalf of my teammates and on behalf of president Bill Veeck who gave me the players to become world champions."

Ford Frick, president of the National League and a former baseball writer, was given the scribes' award for "meritorious service to the game over a period of years."

Hornets Tie Barons Team

(By International News Service)

The Pittsburgh Hornets moved up into a second-place deadlock with the battered Cleveland Barons today, and further jammed the American hockey-league's western division standings.

The Hornets shaded the New Haven Ramblers, 5-4, last night after twice breaking a tied score.

Providence, class of the eastern division, blasted the Cleveland defense to ring up a 9-3 win over the Barons and kill the Cleveland club's chances of gaining on the St. Louis Flyers.

Wrestling Match

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Orville Brown, national wrestling association champion, faces Bobby Bruns in a return match on the march of dimes mat show at Cleveland tomorrow night.

Bob Feller Agrees With Veeck Terms

NEW YORK—(AP)—Bob Feller has signed a one-year contract with the Cleveland Indians for approximately $72,500, but the New York Yankees' Joe DiMaggio probably will top that figure today with a pact close to $100,000.

Feller already has agreed to terms with Bill Veeck, it was learned last night, and the scheduled signing in Cleveland tomorrow will be a mere formality.

Feller's new contract calls for an approximately $10,000 cut from his 1948 salary of $82,500. He will receive the same $40,000 base contract he got last year, but the difference will be in the bonuses resulting from attendance. Feller will start drawing extra salary after the club was drawn 1,250,000 at home. The extra payments will end at 2,500,000.

In other words, should the Indians' home attendance reach two and a half million fans, which is about 100,000 less than last year, Bob will earn $72,500.

Feller, a guest at the annual dinner of the New York baseball writers' last night, said he was very happy over his new contract.

Two Grade Teams Undefeated After 1st Round of Play

Brinkerhoff and West Fifth remain the only undefeated grade school basketball teams at the end of first round play in both the Northern and Southern leagues. Both defeated every other team in their section once.

Second half play starts this week. The two split season winners will meet at the end of the year for league championships, according to director of physical education Harry Mehock.

Ohio State Cagers Play Indiana

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Ohio State's "spoil-sport" basketball team, buoyed by its convincing victory over Minnesota Saturday night, takes on an in-and-out Indiana club tonight with a determination to keep its slim western conference title hopes alive.

The Buckeyes beat one of the best teams in the land in no uncertain fashion when they knocked Minnesota out of the league lead with a 48-39 victory and they think they have a good chance for a coveted gonfalon or at least a share of it.

Ohio coach Tippy Dye said it all with the words:

"I believe the ultimate champion will lose three games."

And since the Bucks already have lost three it's up to Minnesota and Michigan to lose one more and league-leading Illinois to lose two for the race to turn into a real madhouse. Ohio State, now considered one of the most dangerous teams in the conference, can take care of some of those losses if it plays like it did against Minnesota.

But the Buckeyes had to guard against over confidence against the weaker teams Indiana, for instance, though holding only a 2-3 record in league play, could dish out trouble tonight as the Hoosiers have been resting from the pressure of big nine competition for three weeks.

They have trimmed Iowa and Purdue, but lost to Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Their starting lineup, however, is coming along with Bill Tosheff and Bill Garrett a pair of fine sophomores at forward positions, Tom Schwartz at center, and veterans Lou Watson and Don Ritter at guards.

Dye is hoping that his boys will take Indiana with the one-game-at-a time system and tried to keep their minds off the Illinois game next Saturday. The incentive there is great, not only to knock Illinois off the top perch in the conference, but also to revenge that earlier, tough 64-63 loss from the Illini at the coliseum.

Illini Looks For Trouble On Saturday

CHICAGO—(UP)—Illinois, with an assist from Ohio State, was back in front in the Big Nine basketball race today, but the speedy Illini could look for trouble Saturday when it's their turn to tangle with the pesky OSU Buckeyes.

The new edition of the Whiz Kids bumped Wisconsin, 61 to 54, as Minnesota toppled, 48 to 39, before Ohio State's speed and a zone defense.

The combination left Illinois alone in first place with only one defeat in six league games, while Minnesota dropped to second with two losses in eight contests.

IN CHAMPAIGN TONIGHT

Illinois tangles with Northwestern at Champaign tonight, but the Illini were heavily favored. In other league games Indiana plays at Ohio State, Iowa at Purdue and Wisconsin at Michigan. The Buckeyes, Purdue and Michigan looked like the winners.

But Saturday Ohio State visits Illinois and the contest could be a game of the year. The two teams met once previously when the Illini took a 64 to 63 decision at Columbus as the Buckeyes made strategical errors in the closing minutes to blow the scrap.

While Illinois will have the advantage of the home floor, Ohio State has more speed and plenty of scoring punch. And even with the home court, Illinois could be beaten.

Other Saturday games are Michigan at Indiana, Iowa at Minnesota and Wisconsin against Northwestern in the Chicago stadium. Michigan-Indiana and Wisconsin-Northwestern were fairly even but Minnesota will be a big favorite over Iowa.

MUST KEEP WINNING

Minnesota will have to keep winning to retain any hopes of a share of the Big Nine crown. The Gophers, by winning the rest of their games, could get back into the title picture should Illinois lose once.

Illinois, should it beat Ohio State, would have a fairly smooth path until the final game of the season, March 7, against the Wolverines—also at Ann Arbor. And should Michigan manage to get by Wisconsin, Indiana, Minnesota, Purdue, Ohio State and Iowa in that order, the Wolverines could come up to the Illinois game with a chance to retain its title or at least share in the crown.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.—Adv.

PILES Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, billiousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, rain in black and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free.

Wolf Packs Visit Populated Areas

Although few wolves have been noted in Ohio for the past decade, there is no shortage of them in Alberta, Canada.

Marauding wolf packs there are invading the populated areas in search of food. Settlers keep rifles close at hand, and parents are showing concern for children who have to walk long distances to school. To date, however, no attacks on humans have been reported and livestock has borne the brunt of the wolves' hunger.

TERRY & PIRATES

GET IT STRAIGHT, ALEXIS! I STILL THINK YOUR MEEK LITTLE MAID ACT IS PHONY.
YES, TERRY. THIS IS WHY YOU TELL ME TO GO HOME. NO?
UH, HUH...BUT I CAN'T LET YOU GO THROUGH THESE DARK STREETS ALONE AT NIGHT... I'LL, AH, JUST SEE THAT YOU GET TO YOUR DOOR, O.K.
ALEXIS REGRETS HER SILLINESS IS CAUSING YOU INCONVENIENCE.
FORGET IT. IF THIS BENIGHTED BURG BOASTED ANY TAXIS, I'D POP YOU INTO ONE, BUT AS LONG AS YOU HAVE TO WALK...
AND NEARBY...
STRANGE! OBVIOUSLY HER HIGHNESS DOES NOT WISH TO OCCUPY HER SEDAN CHAIR FOR THE RETURN TRIP.

RIGHT YOU ARE, WILMER.

YOU'D REALLY LIKE TO HAVE SOME OF IT?
WE'RE DOIN' OKAY, BUT WE COULD TAKE CARE OF MORE.
WE'VE NEVER SAT DOWN AND TALKED IT OVER. DROP IN AND SEE ME.

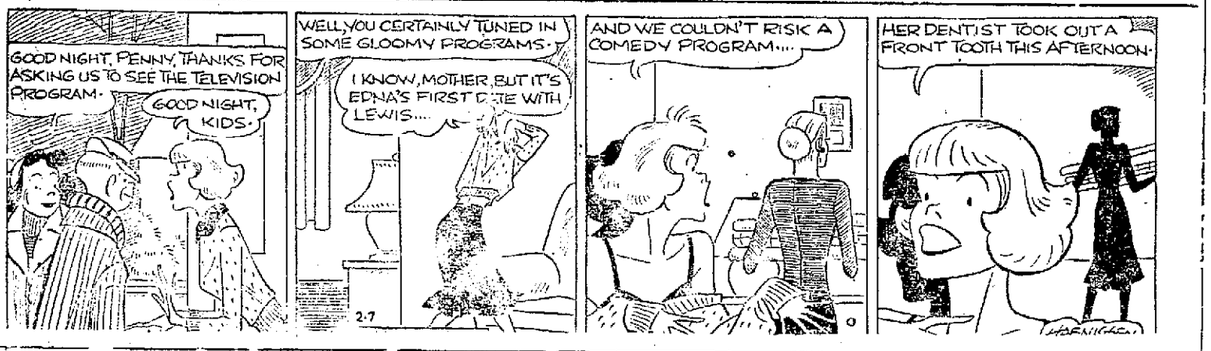
OH, RIP...I'M ALL MIXED UP! THAT'S WHY I RADIOED YOU... I NEED YOUR ADVICE... YOUR HELP...
YOU MUST BE TIRED... LET'S GO UP TO THE CAFE. YOU CAN TELL ME ALL ABOUT IT OVER SOME HOT COFFEE.
WELL...IT'S A MAN. HE'S YOUNG...HANDSOME...RICH...AND HE'S IN LOVE WITH ME. HE WANTS TO MARRY ME.
ARE YOU IN LOVE WITH HIM?
I...I DON'T KNOW! OH, RIP, DEAR, DOES IT HURT YOU FOR ME TO SAY THAT?
THAT'S SCARCELY THE POINT. SUPPOSE YOU TELL ME MORE ABOUT THIS YOUNG MAN.

PENNY



GOOD NIGHT, PENNY. THANKS FOR ASKING US TO SEE THE TELEVISION PROGRAM.
GOOD NIGHT, KIDS.

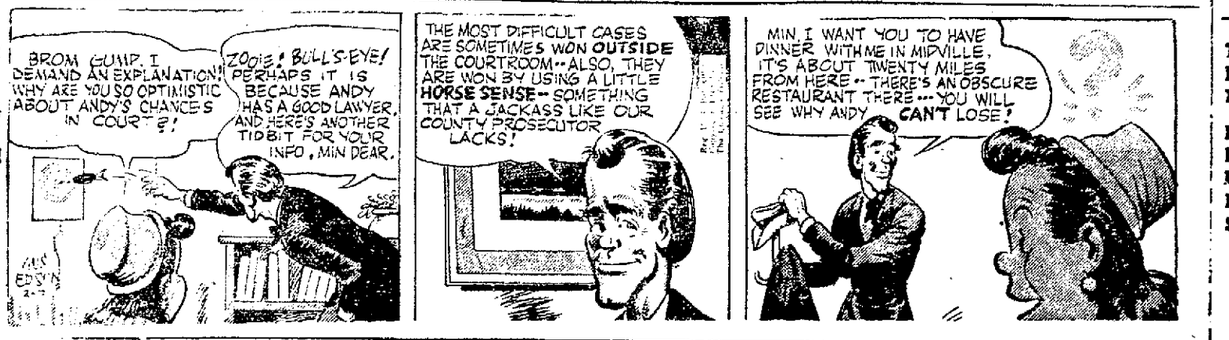
THE GUMPS

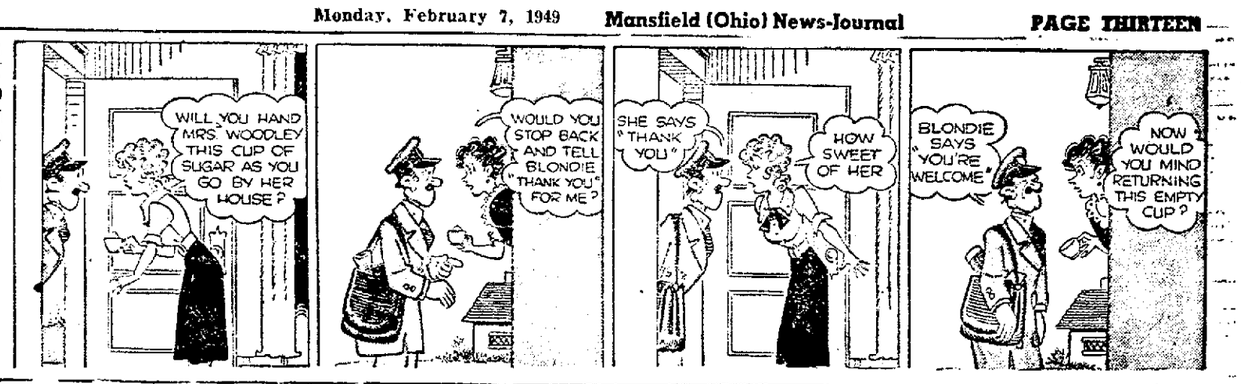


BROM GUMP, I DEMAND AN EXPLANATION! WHY ARE YOU SO OPTIMISTIC ABOUT ANDY'S CHANCES IN COURT?!
ZOOIE! BULL'S-EYE! PERHAPS IT IS BECAUSE ANDY HAS A GOOD LAWYER, AND HERE'S ANOTHER TIDBIT FOR YOUR INFO, MIN DEAR.
THE MOST DIFFICULT CASES ARE SOMETIMES WON OUTSIDE THE COURTROOM--ALSO, THEY ARE WON BY USING A LITTLE HORSE SENSE--SOMETHING THAT A JACKASS LIKE OUR COUNTY PROSECUTOR LACKS!
MIN, I WANT YOU TO HAVE DINNER WITH ME IN MIDVILLE. IT'S ABOUT TWENTY MILES FROM HERE--THERE'S AN OBSCURE RESTAURANT THERE--YOU WILL SEE WHY ANDY CAN'T LOSE!

SUPERMAN

CLARK IS ON A SPOT! BECAUSE OF HIS SUPPOSED STRENGTH, PERRY WHITE WANTS HIM TO WRESTLE WITH--OF ALL PERSONS--SUPERMAN!
DON'T TELL ME YOU REFUSE, CLARK! THINK HOW MUCH MONEY THE MATCH WILL DRAW FOR THE PLANET AID FUND!
ER--SURE--BUT I MUST HAVE TIME TO THINK IT OVER!
ALL RIGHT--BUT I'LL EXPECT AN ANSWER TOMORROW.
OW--WHAT A SPOT. THE CHIEF'LL THINK I'M A HEEL IF I REFUSE, YET HOW CAN I WRESTLE WITH MYSELF?
SHALL I ANNOUNCE THAT THE STRENGTH-GIVING ELIXIR HAS WORN OFF? BUT THEN THE FUND WOULD BE OUT ALL THAT MONEY. IF ONLY--GOSH! MAYBE IT CAN BE DONE!

BLONDIE



WILL YOU HAND MRS. WOODLEY THIS CUP OF SUGAR AS YOU GO BY HER HOUSE?
WOULD YOU STOP BACK AND TELL BLONDIE "THANK YOU" FOR ME?
SHE SAYS "THANK YOU"
HOW SWEET OF HER
BLONDIE SAYS "YOU'RE WELCOME."
NOW WOULD YOU MIND RETURNING THIS EMPTY CUP?

ORPHAN ANNIE

SH-H-H-H-DON'T TALK SO LOUD--
B-BUT THOSE TWO HOODLUMS--AFTER GETTIN' ALL STUNG BY HORNETS--I'D HAVE THOUGHT THEY'D HAVE HAD ENOUGH
SOME FOOLS NEVER KNOW WHEN THEY'VE HAD IT--LOOK--
YES--I'VE NEVER SEEN THAT LITTLE BACK WINDOW O' GYPSY BELLE'S LIGHTED BEFORE--
THE ONLY PLACE ONE COULD SEE INTO THAT WINDOW GOOD IS THERE--THAT CLUMP O' EVERGREENS--
OH-H-H-H--AND LOOK--THOSE BAD MEN--THEY'RE HIDIN' IN THOSE TREES NOW--

Ohio Legislature Studies Aid Hike for Local Governments

Labor, Oelo Bills Up For Action

Heavy Schedule Faces Assembly

COLUMBUS — (AP) — A hike in state aid for local governments is due for consideration in the state legislature this week.

The proposal will share top interest with labor bills and a measure to permit the manufacture and sale of colored oleomargarine.

The House Taxation committee will hold hearings Wednesday on two bills sponsored by Rep. Anna F. O'Neil (D-Akron). They would give local governments increases ranging from $29,000,000 to $35,000,000.

From one, local governments would get a third of the state's sales tax revenue ($140,000,000 last year), in addition to the return of $15,000,000 in intangible taxes.

The other would allocate local governments 40 per cent of the sales tax on a basis of 75 per cent on tax books and 25 per cent on population, (as now), but give the intangible taxes to the state.

Tuesday, the House is scheduled to vote on two labor bills—one to repeal the Ferguson law outlawing strikes by public employes, the other to permit public employes to join labor unions and reeognize their collective bargaining rights. The House Labor-Industry committee recommended passage of both last week.

The House Labor-Industry committee scheduled a joint hearing with the Senate Commerce and Labor committee on the oleo measure Tuesday. It will be this session's first joint hearing.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights the House committee will begin hearing on three House oleo bills—all virtually duplicating the Senate proposals.

Two hearings on the Senate bill already have been held. One was for proponents and the other for those who opposed it. The opponents will finish their case before the committee Tuesday morning.

Other hearings scheduled for Tuesday include the Senate highway committee's on a proposal to permit construction of self-supporting turnpike highways in Ohio; the House Commerce and Transportation committee's on limiting telephone lines to five parties; and the House Taxation committee's on restoring the $7.50 to $16 fee scale for auto licenses (it now is a flat $10).

Rankin Saves Committee But Stripling Called By Army

had not been called. The commentator's Sunday night broadcasts, and his column, began to single me out as one who must be inducted immediately for the good of the country.

Another commentator, informed by a member of Sen. Maybank's staff that the Legislative Deferment committee had reminded Selective Service that Congress had deferred me, joined in. Between them, I became a kind of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, though I was perfectly willing to serve as soon as called.

In view of the military records of the two commentators themselves, there was something ludicrous about their insistence that I, a somewhat sedentary type, be dispatched to bolster an Army which by that time possessed about 10,000,000 men.

In the last days of 1944 the only champion of the committee, and seemingly the only member of Congress who believed it could continue, was John Rankin. Rankin, maneuvered off the committee on January, 1949, by a neat parliamentary move, maneuvered the committee into a permanent status on January 3, 1945.

PULLS SURPRISE

He was not a member at the time he saved both the committee, and its files. He had been after me for a week or two before that, however, to draft a resolution calling for continuance of the committee. But it seemed an implausible act.

On January 3, 1945, first day of the 79th Congress, Rankin called me early in the morning and said, "I've figured one out. Come up to my office."

At his office he handed me a copy of the House rules. "Read," he said, pointing to a section. It had to do with the amendment of House rules.

As Rankin later characterized his action, "I caught 'em flat-footed and flat-headed."

He came to his feet during the routine ceremonies and semi-business of the opening session, after there had been the usual bored acceptance of the first four House rules, and before the fifth was approved he said, "Mr. Speaker, I offer an amendment."

The Speaker consulted the Parliamentarian, who rapidly scanned the rules. In the meantime, Majority Leader John McCormack and others joined in a general protest, usually beginning "This is hardly the time to ,,

But the Speaker upheld Rankin. "He can offer an amendment," the Speaker said, putting down his copy of the rules. He rapped for order. "The gentleman from Mississippi is recognized for one hour."

Rankin, aided by other protagonists of the committee, consumed the full hour. He reviewed the work of the committee and stressed the fact that its files were in danger of being scattered or lost, since they were headed for the hands of a man frankly hostile to the committee. He asked audaciously that the committee be made a permanent arm of Congress, and that its membership be raised from seven to nine.

When his time was up, the Speaker asked for a voice vote. In the resultant roars, the nays appeared clearly to have it. But Rankin, who knew not only his rules but the reluctance of the average member openly to criticize the committee, demanded a roll call.

It was so ordered. The shouters of many a previous nay now voted yea. The amendment was passed, despite the efforts of party leaders to defeat it.

As for my draft status, I was given just enough time to write a report on the last committee activities and move the file cases back into our offices.

On a Monday, late in 1944, while I was in New York on an investigation, my Washington office called to tell me that Sen. Maybank's office had arranged for an additional 30-day deferment.

The following Saturday I was ordered to report for induction. Sen. Maybank's letter had been held up long enough for my draft board to meet and yield, at last, to the remarkable pressure placed upon it.

GOLDSMITH-SCHACKNE VOWS EXCHANGED SUNDAY

Candlelight Service Solemnized Before Altar at Temple Emanuel, Cook Road.

A BEAUTIFUL candlelight satin wedding gown was worn by Miss Janet Beth Goldsmith when she became the bride of Jack K. Schackne of Warren on Sunday afternoon at Temple Emanuel, Cook road. Rabbi Eugene Lippman officiated for the double ring ceremony performed under a canopy of smilax, white pompons and white roses.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Goldsmith, 675 Dickson Parkway, and Mr. Schackne's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Saul Schackne, 195 Linden avenue, Warren.

The custom of open church was observed for the candlelight ceremony solemnized before many relatives and friends at 4 o'clock. Miss Mabel Zehner played the program of organ music.

The temple was decorated with palms, ferns and white snapdragons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in a lovely fitted gown, fashioned with long sleeves, small collar and long full skirt. The dress was trimmed with seed pearls across the shoulders and down the front of the waist and skirt. Her dainty beaded satin Juliet style cap held in place the full length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white tulips with fresh ivy.

Miss Clarine Fair, of Akron, college roommate of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a French blue faille gown of floor length and carried pink tulips and ivy.

Mrs. Goldsmith chose for her daughter's wedding a grey lace and mousseline de soie gown with deep purple orchids. Mrs. Schackne wore a cocoa lace and crepe dress with lavender orchids.

Dr. Henry Schackne of Cleveland, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Howard Knofsky of Warren, cousin of the groom, Larry Goldsmith, brother of the bride, Dr. Robert Ellison of Mansfield, cousin of the bride, Ted Jacobs of Lorain, cousin of the groom, Dr. Edwin Whitman of Cleveland, also a cousin of the groom, and Dr. Marvin Whitman of Cincinnati, a cousin of Mr. Schackne.

At the close of the service a reception was held in the social rooms of the temple for 200 guests. Music was furnished by Paul Burgener's orchestra. The serving tables were decorated with smilax and pink roses with white snapdragons. Friends were received until 7 o'clock. Later a dinner was served for the bridal party, the immediate families and a few close friends.

When the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip the bride was attired in a grey gabardine suit with grey hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of violets with one red rose.

When they return they will reside temporarily at 675 Dickson Parkway.

Mrs. Schackne was graduated from Highland Manor School, West Long Beach, N. J., and Black Mountain college, Black Mountain, N. C. Additional Poppies to Be Ordered

Thirty-four members were present Friday evening for the opening ritual at the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Alfred I. Harrington Post, No. 3494. Mrs. V. E. Hageman presided for the business meeting. Two new members, Mrs. Marshall Remy and Mrs. Claire Hicks, were initiated and given the obligation by the chaplain, Mrs. Elizabeth Harter. They also received instruction from the patriotic instructor, Mrs. Helen Graves.

The members voted to give a donation to the Red Cross and the March of Dimes fund. Mrs. Vern Castor, Americanism chairman, announced that a flag will be presented to the girl scout troop at Bowman street school.

Mrs. John C. Schneider, membership chairman, announced that there are fifteen new members for 1949.

5,000 poppies are to be ordered to add to the original order the members sent for 10,000 poppies.

A special memorial service will be held for two deceased members at the next meeting, February 18. A social hour will follow with Mrs. Helen Perry and Mrs. Paul Whipp as co-chairmen.

Program Given On Hymns

GAMMA MU SIGMA of the First Christian church met for their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Alfred Bollerer, 117 Ford street, Friday evening, with twenty-six members and one guest, Mrs. Richard Palmer, attending.

Devotions were led by Mrs. John Hoffman, who played the recording of the "Littlest Angel."

Mrs. Jay Chubbs' group was in charge of the program which was "Hymns and Their Composers." Thumbnail sketches of some of the popular hymn writers were given and recordings of the songs were played.

Mrs. Bruce Rogers, president, called the business session to order. Roll call was answered with the name of hymns. It was decided to remember our "other family" with a cake on the birthday of each child.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Brannon's committee. The table was appointed in the Valentine theme.

The twenty-five guests spent a social evening with cards as the diversion. The guests presented the honored couple with a shower of miscellaneous gifts and the hosts' gift was copperware.

At a late hour a buffet luncheon was served in two courses from a table appointed in a Valentine theme. The centerpiece was a red heart shaped vase filled with red and white tapers in double crystal holders.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR — MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1949

Possibly the spelling of February should be changed, as the "ru" seems to bother a lot of folks.

Time to start saving up if you are planning to buy a gallon of maple syrup this season—it's a luxury, you know.

Now that a slight drop in some prices is being noted, there is the quick warning that "it shouldn't be permitted to go too far," so maybe you'd better offer to pay more than is asked.

Sues To Recover Gambling Losses

WHILE gambling losses are a day after day occurrence in cities where illegal gambling is permitted—as in Mansfield—court action by a wife to recover money lost by a gambling husband is relatively rare—and usually attracts considerable attention and comment.

Such is the case in the present instance of a woman filing suit in common pleas court seeking to recover $750 which she claims her husband lost in a local gambling place, plus $500 damages, for which the law provides.

The woman's attorney is quoted as saying that she made complaint to Chief of Police Schwab, but was told "there was nothing he could do for her," which is quite understandable, as Chief Schwab is in the rather embarrassing position of being required to "keep hands off" commercialized gambling operations in Mansfield since his gallant try at law enforcement a year ago.

When the gambling ban was put into effect the first of last February, Chief Schwab gave assurance that he was acting with sanction by Mayor Vaughn, which has not been denied. In any event, the lid was lifted two months later—without explanation—leading to suspicion that administration policies are not determined by the responsible elective and appointive law enforcement officials but by outsiders who, in one way or another, exert sufficient pressure to assure against police interference with gambling places.

It will be interesting to see whether or not Governor Lausche's announced intention to clamp down on illegal gambling in Ohio reaches to the point of at least reminding Mayor Vaughn of his sworn duty to enforce state and municipal laws.

Some Will Consider the Cost

NOW THAT President Truman has outlined broad plans for government control of doctors, dentists and hospitals, together with a federal cradle-to-grave program designed to provide financial safeguards against disability, old-age poverty and unemployment, some attention is being given to calculating probable costs of such a paternalistic project.

The current issue of U. S. News and World Report contains an illuminating article on this subject, with an estimate that by 1955 the over-all cost would exceed 12 billion dollars a year, with taxes equal to 11 per cent of payrolls needed to pay the bills.

The article covers phases of the elaborate program sketched by President Truman, extending from care to expectant mothers, through babyhood, childhood, adult life, retirement, death, care of dependents, etc., with everything left to government rather than to individual initiative, industry and thrift.

It's all very interesting, as a subject for study and discussion—but the annoying thought intrudes that somebody would have to pay for all this, and the question arises: "Who would be left to do the paying if everybody is to have all needs supplied by 'the government'?"

Same Subject In Ohio and Michigan

WHILE the Ohio legislature is again asked to abolish the death penalty in this state the same subject is up before the Michigan legislature—in reverse.

Up there the effort is to restore capital punishment for premeditated murder, and a bill to that effect has been introduced in the state assembly.

An editorial comment in the Detroit News approves the change. "Surely there have been enough cold, calculated murders in this state in recent years to prove the need of the law," the editorial says, and continues: "Surely the people have been insulted often enough by killers who slew here rather than in some state which kills killers."

The experiment of abolishing capital punishment in Michigan, and present efforts to secure its return, provides opportunity for study in Ohio before any change is made in the present law which permits electrocution of murderers.

Some People Learn While Waiting

AFTER doing some figuring with paper and pencil, one elderly reader estimates that he has spent two years of his life in waiting for elevators, cars, buses, trains and other forms of transportation.

Others also have thought of the accumulated hours spent in this kind of waiting, and some have planned systematic occupation for these periods, such as learning a new language or mastering some other subject. John Kieran, of radio and literary note, whose memory encompasses an amazing range of information, says he collected much of it by reading while waiting for trains and buses and riding on them.

Another use which might be made of waiting time is for resting the mind and body.

Few seem to know how to relax while waiting for transportation to show up, especially if it is a little behind schedule.

They tell about a West Virginian who wrote to his senator about the "compulsory sickness plan," and impartiality would seem to encourage such an idea, in the event of free medical service for all.

But I think perhaps with patience there will be an end."

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Answers To Stalin 'Clever' But Inept

WHATEVER may be the motives behind the present Russian peace offensive, it deserves a more skillful reply than has yet been made.

The blunt and unimaginative tactics of Marshall have been succeeded by the clever and ironical language of Acheson. But the issues raised by Stalin have not been resolved.

And whatever may be the confidence of the President and the Pentagon Building in our armament, the people of this country favor the road that leads to honorable peace.

Acheson took high ground in saying that other nations should participate in any negotiations. This was intended to maintain American good will among our friends in the Western European nations.

It is probable, however, that those nations, regardless of what they say, think that the real obstacle to general peace is the rivalry for world influence between the only two nations really capable of assuring peace — Russia and the United States.

They surely could take no offense if Truman and Stalin should make a real effort to lift the shadow of fear that hangs over Western Europe. For they know that in a giant conflict they will be caught between two immense forces and relatively will be the greater sufferers.

President Truman made the point that settlements should be made within the framework of the United Nations. This, too, is high ground, and it could be explored with profit. For the facilities of the U. N. are open and easily accessible to all bi-laterial disputes.

The President, however, leaves unanswered the question of how we can bring these negotiations within the U. N. and makes no move to take them there.

* * *

Plain Language Best.

MOREOVER, our course seems to be improvised from day to day. First, we raise the irrelevant question of where the meeting should take place, and Stalin replies with the absurd suggestion that it should be within the iron curtain.

The place could be easily fixed. Potsdam may be unsafe for Stalin because of bitter German hatred of the Soviet. But there is neutral Stockholm or historic Vienna, where Eastern and Western Europe have always found common ground.

Next, the question is raised about other nations' participation.

Then, the President stands on the ground that the U. N. should be used.

From the standpoint of form, there are extra embellishments in Acheson's statement that might have been omitted. The new secretary uses irony, often effective in an American court room but quite out of place in diplomacy.

Irony, like humor, has hard going when it is translated into foreign languages.

Simplicity, and sober simplicity, is best in such cases. There is great danger in being too clever with words.

Moreover, the President's somewhat wry humor in talking about a room at Blair House that could be made ready for Stalin but that isn't ready yet may or may not seem so funny abroad. It would require too much collateral and pictorial embellishment when presented in other languages, "including the Scandinavian."

The fact seems to be that the Marshall Plan and our vast rearmament are winning the cold war. Stalin sees the danger and hopelessness of further aggressive action. Vishinsky is where he should have been all along—in a sanitarium. The Soviet wants to move toward some sort of peace.

This serious situation needs to be met in a serious manner. We can lose no ground in taking a firm but reasonable position.

By INEZ ROBB

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—This is lovely, lovely work if you can get it, and I've got a half-nelson on it.

As I sit here in the sunshine, with the thermometer a mere 85 in the shade, with the sky as blue as the ocean, and the ocean as blue as sapphire—as I listen to the rustle of the palm trees, and catch the background music made by the soft whir of hundred dollar bills in rapid transit, I idly wonder what all the poor people are doing today.

Whatever they're doing they're not doing it in Palm Beach. Because this is the place where summer spends the winter and those who have it spend it all.

And jiminy what a lot of people have got it. This is the first time I have been in Palm Beach since the beginning of World War II. In that interim, the winter colony has almost doubled in size. Any resemblance this place bears today to a small exclusive society resort is purely coincidental.

Some of the old guard is still left fighting a losing battle, but the place is jumpin' today with millionaires of whom no one—that is, no one in society—has ever heard. Tycoons who made their fortunes as long as twenty years ago are now hard put to keep in their place the new tycoons with a pot of black market money scarcely five years old.

Some shrewd Americans believe we would turn all Russians into Republicans if only we could bombard the U. S. S. R. with millions of Sears Roebuck catalogues.

I think we could accomplish the same end by showing the Russians a 60-minute news reel of Palm Beach. This place is an authentic realization of the American dream: It is true that any American boy can grow up to be president given time but he only gets one chance every four years. However anyone can come to Palm Beach every year . he has the money, and usually does.

* * *

Measured By Money.

MONEY is the great leveler in this community. If you've got it you're in. Or practically. Nobody cares who grandpaw was if you can pick up the tab.

The myth of Palm Beach as an exclusive society retreat where the Astors speak only to the Vanderbilts and the Vanderbilts only to the captains of their yachts still persists. But it has worn mighty mighty thin.

The winter colony now crowding this little bit of heaven numbers 20,000 persons. That's a rather considerable expansion of the original "Four Hundred." It is in addition, convincing testimony that democracy works.

This is the place where not only summer comes to spend the winter but also all the nation's shiny, new station wagons and glossy convertibles. It is also the place where the nation's slap-happy, one-armed drivers are sit ing out the cold spell.

It is worth a pedestrian's life to cross Worth avenue, the colony's fashionable shopping district, at any time during the day or night.

Woman and girlie I have been coming to Palm Beach regularly ever since 1929, with the exception of the war years. In the good old days every one groused about taxes.

But even with the Democrats still in the White House the big beef today is not about taxes but the impossibility of finding a place to park. Tempus fugit.

I don't want to rub it in, but esterday I was in New York breaking the ice in the wash basin and shivering in my old sables. I ate a dainty breakfast with my family before boarding the 9:10 a. m. Eastern Airlines plane. Three hours and 45 minutes later I was in Palm Beach.

And now you will pardon me. I hope, if I go back to my sun-tan oil. Peace—fan mah brow—Palm Beach, is wonderful.

Mild Winter In East Troubles Lewis

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — John L. Lewis's bargaining position in the coal industry is being hurt by the "unusual" winter weather. Because most of the East is having a mild winter, coal stocks are now up about 50 per cent over last year, giving the nation more than a 60-day stockpile. This means Lewis won't be able to tie up the country easily when his contract negotiations open this spring. . . . "Muley Bob" Doughton of North Carolina, chairman of the House ways and means committee, is blazing mad about the "packing" of his committee with six new Democratic liberals—so mad, in fact, that he has indicated to friends he will give the President's four-billion-dollar tax request an extended deep freeze in his committee. . . . President Truman has told visitors he will move very slowly in reshuffling the cabinet. No further changes expected before the budget is passed by Congress. . . . American ambassador to Moscow, Bedell Smith, has his eyes on becoming commander of the First Army at Governors Island, New York.

* * *

End of Committee.

AFTER 30 days stay of grace, the Senate small business committee has quietly passed on to where the good committees often go. It ceased to exist. Its authority to operate simply ran out.

However, it did not go to the limbo of forgotten things. For, a few hours later, Democratic senators held a post-mortem behind closed doors. Senator Jim Murray of Montana, who has always fought for small business though his own millionaire holdings amount to big business, appealed to his colleagues to revive the committee. He was joined by Senators Claude Pepper of Florida and Brien McMahon of Connecticut.

But for every senator who championed the small business committee, two stood up against it. They pointed out that fair-minded Senator Burnett Maybank of South Carolina had appointed a fine subcommittee of his banking and currency committee to handle small business—which is true.

However, Murray contended that a subcommittee cannot operate with the same independence and forthrightness as a special, independent committee.

Also, the Republicans, under rambunctious Senator Wherry of Nebraska, did a good job of running the small business committee, and Murray, calling attention to this past record, pleaded: "Letting the committee die might be used against us politically."

"How much good did it do the Republicans?" came a voice from the rear of the room.

* * *

No Power to Pass Laws.

"THE TROUBLE with the special small business committee," argued South Carolina's Maybank, "was that after it got through with all its hearings, it was still helpless. It had no authority to legislate."

"If you really want a special committee on small business," snapped Senator Spessard Holland, of Florida, "make it a standing committee so you will have power to make legislation."

Holland argued that the special committee not only couldn't legislate, but that other committees paid little attention to it.

He cited the small business committee's report on steel which he had referred to on the Senate floor and found that the other senators knew nothing about it.

Virginia's A. Willis Robertson, Louisiana's Allen Ellender and Arkansas' Bill Fulbright also argued against a special committee.

Finally, majority leader Lucas of Illinois wound up the discussion by suggesting that if anybody wanted to revive the small business committee, the thing to do was to draw up a resolution. Montana's Murray started work on this immediately.

* * *

Congressman Wins Respect.

ILLINOIS' Congressman William Dawson, first Negro committee chairman in congressional history, is proving that he can make democracy work in the House expenditures committee.

One man who is keenly aware of this is Harry Truman. The day before Dawson's committee reported the reorganization measure for House action, the President told the Chicago Negro:

"I couldn't have asked for better cooperation from your committee on this important legislation. You're doing a great job. Keep it up."

Turning to the committee colleagues who accompanied him, Dawson said: "Thank you, Mr. President, but these gentlemen and others on the committee deserve the credit, not me."

Three outstanding legislators from the South made it a special point to go to the White House with Dawson and support him—Henderson Lanham of Georgia, Porter Hardy, jr., of Virginia and Herbert Bonner of North Carolina.

Others who accompanied Dawson were Chet Holafield of California, Frank Karsten of Missouri and House Majority Leader John McCormack of Massachusetts.

Men like Lanham, Hardy and Bonner have worked with Dawson because they like him personally, respect his ability, and because they have a high regard for the democratic process of government.

Frankly Speaking

When Disasters Strike

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — The government now has put up $1,350,000 to help the storm-locked people and cattle of the western states.

Getting relief to them has meant clearing roads with army bulldozers, flying in huge loads of hay by plane, and so on.

But a man I know, reading about this, said: "Where is this idea of government help going to end?

"Now the government's going in for disaster relief? Why should it? Why the government? Why not the Red Cross?"

The Red Cross is helping out. But this is a huge operation, calling for a great deal of help over a great area very quickly.

And—government help in a disaster is not a new idea. The government has helped in disasters many times in American history.

The government first handed out money for American relief in 1827 for the "sufferers from a fire in Alexandria, Va."

Since then, from time to time down through the years, it has stepped in to help the victims of storms, cyclones, Indian raids, hurricanes, grasshopper plagues, earthquakes, and even volcanic eruptions in Alaska.

There wasn't any hard-and-fast policy on this. Sometimes the government gave help, sometimes it didn't.

Edith Abbott, in her huge 1940 study on federal aid, called "Public Assistance," pointed out:

In 1887 congress voted help for drought sufferers in Texas but President Cleveland, a great believer in rugged individualism, vetoed it.

He said doing something like that was "indulging a benevolent and charitable sentiment through the appropriation of public funds."

* * *

How Help Is Given.

Still, as disasters occurred in the years that followed, Congress stepped in and voted money to help out.

So government help in disasters has a long history.

In the present case President Truman had $350,000 in a special emergency fund and he handed this out for the western disaster.

He asked Congress for another $1,000,000. Congress voted $500,000 and later voted the other $500,000.

The money is spent like this: The President assigns some money to a government agency, like the Indian bureau, to help snow-bound Indians; so much to the interior department for relief of sheep and cattlemen; so much to the Army to replace the money the Army has to spend in clearing roads or getting help for people or cattle.

For example: The President told Secretary of Defense Forrestal to spend unlimited funds to rush relief to the stricken areas.

He told Forrestal that the storm disaster "makes it imperative that the full resources of the federal government be mobilized immediately to furnish such emergency assistance as can be made available through the federal agencies."

Mr. Truman told Major General Philip Fleming, federal works administrator, to oversee all the relief work of the government. The states themselves are spending money on storm relief.

Rep. Granger, Democrat from Utah—which is one of the storm-struck states—said Utah was spending about $20,000 a day "just to keep the main highway open."

Dave Boone Says:

STALIN may not be strong enough to stand travel, at that. Most of his actions and utterances indicate he is so weak he can hardly wreck a world without some discomfort.

* * *

I'm not a doctor but I would diagnose his ailment as chronic "ironcurtainitis."

* * *

It's my idea he should be put on a diet. He's got to stop eating small nations between meals for one thing, and he should lay off potatoes and pastry with sizzling-platter ultimatums.

* * *

I think Dean Acheson, our new secretary of state, is the most capable wise-cracker we have had there in years. His remark "Stalin thus appears to be effectively grounded" was easily the quip of the decade.

As Cerf Tells It

When Heywood Broun was employed by the New York Tribune, he tried in vain to persuade Ogden Reid, the publisher, to raise the salaries of the entire staff. A few weeks later, Broun was invited to spend a week-end at the Reid estate in Purchase. As he drove into the private roadway, he noticed that a beautiful fence was being built around the entire place. "Humphh," snorted Broun. "Millions for de fence, but not a cent for Tribune!"

As Others See It

Why So Sad?

The nation's top dog in popularity is the cocker spaniel, a breed which features a hurt expression for no reason, as everybody loves it and it already has a fur coat.—Detroit News.

It's a Good Idea.

The American people have been advised to be more thrifty and economical. All the taxpayers would like to pass along the good counsel to the government.—Kansas City Times.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"Isn't my word good enough that I won't go out tonight?"

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

MR. HOOVER'S comment that taxation has reached the saturation points seems to have fallen on dry ears in Washington.

* * *

Congress even has a bill before it to sell houses to people who can't afford them at prices the rest of us can't afford.

* * *

Everyone is for the legislation to subsidize $7,000 houses except the people who have been paying $14,000 without subsidy.

* * *

Under the plan, federal, state and city governments would pay for the living room, bedroom, bath and kitchen and the buyer would provide his own wife, lawnmower and boxwood hedge.

* * *

Under old law a man's house was his castle but under new law a man's house would be his neighbor's tax burden.

* * *

But this is only the fifth week of the session . . . Wait 'till Congress really gets rolling.

That Old Oak Tree

By CALVIN A. BYERS

WE'RE burning the last of the old oak on the hill. It grew on the highest point in our woods north of the house. For nine years I walked about this massive trunk, admired its strength, its sturdy clusters of buds at the tips of the twigs, its broad spreading crown.

Every spring when the new pink-leaves were scarcely open, the fringe of catkins appeared and the tiny close-fitting clusters of pistillate flowers. The acorns matured early and were off and gone before winter. Squirrels had a field day, and there were few acorns left to sprout and grow into oaks.

The tree was old. Its aged companions had blown out of root and when its top swayed back and forth in a heavy wind, I could hear the inward crack and groan of the tight-grained wood.

Two years ago, after a strong March gale, I looked and did not see the giant towering there. It lay prone, partially buried in the soft woods earth—earth made rich by years and years of fallen oak leaves.

I thought it would be solid enough for three 20-foot logs. The boys sawed three lengths and looked about for lighter work. The boys were too young for such heavy tough timber.

So the log lay there for two years, and did not rot. Our boys grew bigger. This winter we sawed it into shorter sticks, split them and dragged them to the woodlot. Buzzed and split into small sticks, the mighty oak makes fuel for the kitchen range . . . a wry fate for so noble a specimen, perhaps.

That giant oak has been a boon to us. Its lengthy roots, for more than a century drew sustenance from the depths of our rocky ridge, and helped to hold the water there so that our spring flowed out below.

Every year it laid down upon the slope its summer's work of leaves and twigs and acorns to replenish the topsoil, while it stored within itself a ring of new wood that had captured the heat of many sunny days.

Now we burn the wood, bask in the heat and cook our meals with it. In the spring I will have wood ashes for my potato patch—mineral wealth from the depths of the glacial drift. (Our hills are deposits of the glacial age.)

New Child Books Listed

A book for youngsters who are afraid of the dark is being offered at Mansfield Public library this week end, the title being "Boo, Who Used To Be Afraid of the Dark" by Munro Leaf.

Other children's books being released are "Sleepy Little Lion" by Margaret Wise Brown, illustrated with photographs of little lions and telling the story of the lion's adventures

A seasonal book title is "Big Snow", by Bertha and Elmer Hader, which pictures birds and animals making ready for winter.

Usually at this time of the year fifth grade geography pupils are studying Texas, Arizona and other western ad southern states, and should be interested in May McNeer's "Story of the Southwest".

"A Small Child's Book of Verse", contains many favorite old poems, as well as new ones, while a joke book, "A Treasury of Laughs" by Joanna Strong and Joanna Leonard, should find much reader-interest among the youngsters who have been requesting library officials for just such a book.

Rural Roads Said Vital Defense Key

Ohio Solon Urges Careful Analysis

WASHINGTON—Farm-to-market roads are an integral part in our defense, J. Harry McGregor, congressman from the 17th Ohio District, told the American Road Builders' 46th annual meeting here today.

McGregor called attention to the fact that of the 3,300,000 miles of roads, alleys and streets in our nation, 3,000,000 miles are in rural districts, only 23 per cent of which are graded and drained but not surfaced, and 31 per cent are primitive undrained and not surfaced. Over these farm-to-market roads 4,000,000 children ride to school daily; 33,000 rural letter carriers travel each day approximately 1,500,000 miles—directly serving 30,000,000 people.

McGregor stated: "We must not be interested in roads, or any other legislation for that matter, from a selfish viewpoint. We must consider what is best for all of us—not only from the viewpoint of highway contractors, but from the viewpoint of citizens and realize we should carefully analyze and agree on a program that will benefit all and really fit into a program that will make ours "A Greater America."

McGregor called attention to the fact that in Ohio alone the program up-to-date only covers 568 miles of secondary roads, 225 miles of which have been completed. He further stated: "Thus it would seem Ohio has quite a sizeable program, yet it involves improvement of only 568 miles as compared to the 28,737 miles under county control and 40,938 miles of township roads in Ohio."

He asked the various federal and state officials "What Is wrong?" He suggested the need of a complete re-organization of that branch of the highway departments—federal and state—that has control of the road program dealing with farm-to-market roads—county and township roads.

Final Plans Formed For 'Ladies' Day Out' Program

Final arrangements have been completed for the new program, "Ladies' Day Out," which opens Tuesday at the YWCA.

The program is designed to give the women of Mansfield a chance to participate in sports, sewing, cards or whatever recreation they desire, and at the same time provide entertainment for their pre-school age youngsters in the nursery, Miss Agnes Kessler, executive secretary of the association, said today. She added that reservations may still be made for the eight-weeks' term.

The session is scheduled to open at 10 a. m. Tuesday, with Mrs. Harold Fox in charge of the nursery on the second floor of the association headquarters. Mrs. Lionel Smaltz will direct the knitting and sewing classes, while Mrs. H. D. Osmond, Red Cross volunteer life-saving instructor, will be in charge of swimming classes in the YMCA pool.

Luncheon will be served at noon to both the adults and children.

Miss Kessler announced today that the staff at Mansfield Public library had provided a number of story books for the children in the nursery.

Mrs. Irl Fisher is serving as registrar for the program, which, Mrs. Kessler said, is open to all Mansfield women, not just YWCA members.

Youths On Probation

Two youths, one 17, the other 16, each received two-year suspended sentences to the Mansfield Reformatory this morning in juvenile court for stealing 600 pounds of construction steel early Saturday morning. A third, also 17, was put on probation for two years for participating in the same offense.

The boys were charged with the theft of the steel from the Purdy Construction company on Longview avenue. They told the court they had intended to sell it for junk.

The two given suspended sentences were placed under the supervision of their parents, and required to be home every day by 9 p. m. except when accompanied by their parents. Judge Stuart H Cramer told the pair they would be required to find steady employment.

The third boy was required to live under the supervision of his elder brother during the period of probation

Gets 10 Days On Charge Of Stealing

Two Sentenced For Shoplifting

Mrs. Gaythel Gorman, of Springmill street, was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail today after she pleaded guilty in municipal court to a charge of petit larceny.

Mrs. Gorman, along with a 15 year old North Main street girl was arrested Saturday in Kobacker's department store. Mrs. Gorman was accused of shoplifting a $1.98 blouse from a counter.

In juvenile court, the 15 year old girl, who was accused of taking four blouses and two dresses, was remanded to the custody of her grandmother, who was ordered to return her to West Virginia, her original home.

Fined $10 and costs for traffic law violations were R. W. Hutchinson, of Ashland, for speeding; Lawrence E. Nye, of Barberton, for passing a school bus while it was discharging passengers; and Harley H. Lewis, of Shelby, for unsafe operation.

Elmer Nickels, of Mansfield, R. D. 2, was fined $15 and costs for having insufficient brakes; Benjamin Gladstone, of Cleveland Heights, forfeited a $25 bond for speeding; and John McNally, 191 East Second street, paid $5 and costs for failing to register a motor vehicle.

SPONSORING DINNER

XENIA, — (AP) — The Fairfield - Osborn Republican Women's club is sponsoring a Lincoln day dinner in Osborn Friday night. Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester will speak.

Pupil Fails Professor

SEATTLE — (AP) — Dr. Donald Webster had two important dates, one in Olympia and the other in traffic court.

Webster, professor of political science at the University of Washington, consulted a student who has made a study of traffic law. The student said he could call the court and get a postponement.

Webster went to Olympia. He returned to find his driver's license suspended for 30 days and his bail of $150 forfeited: The charge—reckless driving—stemmed from a collision on an icy street.

His case had come up before the student, who is Seattle's Police Chief George D. Eastman, could get in touch with the court.
